

Inspiration

The following is an excerpt from “Isn’t healing just a coincidence” by Elaina Simpson from the January 18, 2021 issue of the Christian Science Sentinel.

These were the earnest words of a visitor at the Christian Science Reading Room where I served as librarian. Although I could not know exactly what he meant, the crux of these types of questions tends to be, “Is God real?” or, “How could healing through prayer be possible?” I assured him that healing through prayer as I had experienced it in Christian Science isn’t happenstance.

When someone is healed through prayer, we are seeing tangible evidence of the reality of God’s, Spirit’s, perfect creation in our experience. Prayer in Christian Science is about more than the surface need for a physical ailment to be healed. It’s about seeing our true, spiritual nature as the expression of God, Spirit, who is the sole source of harmony. Healing through prayer is not a coincidence, but is bringing this infinite and universal harmony to light in our thought and, ultimately, in our health and experience.

New experiential space for visitors at The Christian Science Publishing Society

If you joined us for Annual Meeting this year, you may have heard our announcement—we’ve redesigned the first floor of The Christian Science Publishing House to be a welcoming space that explores global progress and possibilities. Beginning August 2nd, as a free public preview before its September 7th opening, “How Do You See the World?” offers perspectives on this question through three highly interactive exhibits that surround and give context to the iconic Mapparium™ experience. We look forward to your visit, and we encourage you to bring family and friends. You can learn more about “How Do You See the World?” and its exhibits at christianscience.com/howdoyouseetheworld.

Annual Meeting 2021

We enjoyed being with you in June online via live video webcast for Annual Meeting 2021 to explore the theme “Grace to go forward” (Christian Science Hymnal, No. 278). You can watch the replay in English at christianscience.com/annualmeeting. A replay of the meeting in French, German, Portuguese, and Spanish is also available on the Annual Meeting page for these specific languages.

Thank you for your support of the new Shop!

Your support of the new Shop since its launch on November 2 has been wonderful, and we're grateful. We're thrilled with how many of you are already using the Shop to place your orders. We're learning and refining along the way and want to be sure that you're coming along with us.

Shopping/ Promotional Materials

- As you're shopping, PLEASE DO NOT PLACE any Reading Room orders without logging into your account. Checking out as a guest will treat you as a retail customer even if you have an established wholesale account. If you need to have your Wholesale account set up, please be in touch by emailing shop@christianscience.com so that we can review the account creation guidelines for Reading Rooms with you.
- As a reminder, if you need to have your orders billed to an invoice, you need to please email (csrrcustserv@cdsfulfillment) or call in your orders at this time until this feature is built in the new Shop. This is also true if you need to adjust your continuity orders in any way. Call: 1-800-877-8400 in the US and Canada, and +1 515-362-7463 outside of the US Monday through Friday, 9AM-5:30PM ET.
- Please be aware: Presently, you will be able to see single copies of pamphlets, in addition to the customary 3-packs. Please order carefully. There's not a Wholesale price for the single pamphlets. Similarly, you will be able to see all of the digital products. Please be sure that you're ordering the product that you want (digital or physical) by reviewing the product descriptions.
- Update: Due to your feedback and interest, promotional materials will permanently reside in a Dropbox folder separate from the new shop. Here it is. Here's a tutorial video about how to use the Dropbox.

Shop Support in French, German, Portuguese, and Spanish

We're so pleased to let you know that the checkout pages in the Shop have been translated into French, German, Portuguese, and Spanish to support our worldwide customers better.

From the Mary Baker Eddy Library

The July episode of Seekers and Scholars is now available!

Episode 55: Muscular Christianity, the YMCA, and Mary Baker Eddy

As part of this episode, you will learn about Harry Porter, a Christian Scientist, who won a gold medal at the 1908 Olympics in London, England. His story brings together themes around Christian Science and Muscular Christianity, a movement that emerged in the late 1800s over concerns about the weakening of religion. It was influential on organizations like the Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA), and in the formation of the modern Olympics. Historian Peggy Bendroth interviews the Library's Jonathon Eder about his article "Manhood and Mary Baker Eddy: Muscular Christianity and Christian Science." Recently published in Church History, it explores how Mary Baker Eddy addressed similar concerns to those of Muscular Christian advocates and explains the history of her own relationship with the YMCA.

Seekers and Scholars is The Mary Baker Eddy Library's monthly podcast series. It features interviews with people who are exploring the many and diverse ways Mary Baker Eddy's ideas and lifework have influenced our world. Episodes are available on our website, or you can subscribe through Apple Podcasts, Spotify, or wherever you normally get your podcasts.

Join The Mary Baker Eddy Library online for One World

The Mary Baker Eddy Library is hosting its annual One World program—a free educational event series for children ages 4–12. The program will take place online via Zoom again this year and explores a different culture from around the globe each week.

Come sing, create simple crafts, listen to stories, and watch live performances reflective of the culture of the week. The program takes place every Tuesday morning through August 17, from 10:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. EDT. Feel free to share One World with children you know and their families. Learn more and register here.

As always, if you or your visitors have questions about Mary Baker Eddy or the history of the Christian Science movement, you can submit them to our researchers at research@mbelibrary.org or by using the form on our website

From The Christian Science Monitor

NEW: a one-page reference document for Reading Rooms about what the Monitor offers. You've requested this and we're glad to be able to offer it to you. Check it out here.

NEW: The Respect Project

Many of you have written in asking about Reading Room resources for this Monitor series. We'd like to share the following with you.

(1) You can find the entire Respect Project here, 8 new articles, 12 past articles, plus event recording: www.csmonitor.com/respect

It is a good page to link to from websites, social media, etc.

The video recording can be seen there with other related articles, plus our book recommendations that were highly requested after our event.

(2) To view the standalone video visit here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jAgA0rDmCWw>

Reading Rooms are welcome to use the video on their website, share it on social media, and of course, bring people together to view and/or discuss what was covered.

We had a huge interest and turn out for the event given the world feeling they do need more respect in day-to-day life. We imagine you will find the same response in your own community.
