From First Church of Christ, Scientist, Santa Barbara, California, USA

In praying about the situation in Ukraine, First Church of Christ, Scientist, Santa Barbara, California has set out Prayer Chairs outside of their Reading Room. Additionally, there is a film festival in town, so there is a lot of foot traffic from people attending screenings.

From the Mary Baker Eddy Library

The March episode of Seekers and Scholars is now available!

Episode 63: Discovering the Civil War in the Mary Baker Eddy Papers

Join us for a discussion with Dr. Rachel Monroy and Bronwen Arthur, from the Library’s Mary Baker Eddy Papers project. They share recent discoveries from Mary Baker Eddy’s writings during the American Civil War period, just before her discovery of Christian Science. Her correspondence at that time demonstrates a commitment to all humans as “image bearers of God,” which fueled her vigorous efforts in support of emancipation. Eddy’s moral opposition to slavery in the United States prefigured the stance she later took for Christian Science, as a liberating influence for all of humanity. Read more: Find links to related articles from the Mary Baker Eddy Papers team, as well as some of the correspondence mentioned in this episode, on the episode page.

Seekers and Scholars is The Mary Baker Eddy Library's monthly podcast series. It features interviews with people who are exploring the many and diverse ways Mary Baker Eddy's ideas and lifework have influenced our world. As always, if you or your visitors have questions about Mary Baker Eddy or the history of the Christian Science movement, you can submit them to our researchers at research@mbelibrary.org or by using the form on our website
