Christian Science YouTube Channel

As more and more people around the world visit YouTube, The Mother Church has committed to updating and expanding our video presence.

We have recently merged the Christian Science, Christian Science Youth, Mary Baker Eddy Library, and Board of Lectureship YouTube channels. The new, single YouTube channel is branded "Christian Science." You can find it at www.youtube.com/@christianscience, and it will be a home for video produced for the public by The Mother Church. The Christian Science Monitor's YouTube channel will remain as a separate channel. The other channels will be available for the next six months before they are removed from YouTube.

Soon, you can expect to find more videos explaining Christian Science, more youth-oriented content, and more lectures–"shorts" as well as full length. Podcasts produced by both The Christian Science Monitor and the other Christian Science periodicals will also be added to YouTube. (Some are already there.)

Departments at The Mother Church are actively creating new content for the Christian Science channel, and we'll begin posting it over the next few months. The Christian Science Monitor currently posts short-form videos several times a month as special online-only content not found in the magazine.

Like all social media, success on YouTube depends upon follower engagement. Please subscribe to our new channel and "like" and comment on our content to help make our Christian Science content visible to as many people as possible. And, above all, please share with others.

What is Christian Science? Brochure

We are pleased to announce that The Mother Church has updated the brochure "What is Christian Science?" to support members, branches, and Reading Rooms in welcoming and sharing Christian Science with your communities. Complete with updated text and visuals, as well as a new QR code linked to christianscience.com, the new "What is Christian Science?" brochure expresses the timeless healing message of Christian Science in a way that speaks to hearts hungering for a higher understanding of God and man.

The new brochure is available in English, French, German, Portuguese, and Spanish and will replace the older versions. We expect to translate the new brochure into additional languages in the future, and, in the meantime, the current brochure will continue to be available in those languages.

EVENTS & OPPORTUNITIES

Reading Room webinars
Our next webinar is TBD.

In case you missed it: Reading Room webinar replays

Church Activities Department Support for Reading Rooms
Reading Room Workshops. Those workshops are offered on Zoom at no cost to your branch. They are discussion-based and open to the whole membership. Typically, they are 1 - 1 ½ hours long and include questions such as:

- What is a Reading Room today?
- How can we engage with our community better?
- How can we metaphysically meet the impositions that would challenge their vibrancy and purpose?

Reading Room Gatherings. Gatherings are locally initiated and then supported by The Mother Church Activities department. Typically they have a Planning Committee with representation from multiple churches in a region. These take place over one day and are focused on the Reading Room. The Mother Church works with local church members to identify the biggest needs and/or questions related to this activity. The schedule for the day is based around those needs and provides an opportunity for those in the area to gather to share with each other their own ideas, inspiration, and activity. There is no cost to the churches.

Calls with individual Reading Rooms. These are also on Zoom and are more informal. They can be geared towards the needs of each Reading Room.
