

Inspiration

An excerpt from The "nets" were filled: A Reading Room relocation story by Sherilynn Diebert (The Christian Science Journal, December 2022)

I like thinking about how Christian Science Reading Rooms are staffed by those who rely on God and follow Jesus' teachings to meet human needs. When I accepted the position of librarian for our church's Reading Room, I was aware that we could be looking for a new location in the near future. The desire to share the Reading Room's spiritual resources carried me through the doubts, discouragement, and frustration that I would encounter as the search progressed. In Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, the Discoverer of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, states, "Desire is prayer; and no loss can occur from trusting God with our desires, that they may be moulded and exalted before they take form in words and in deeds" (p. 1).

We want to hear from you! How have members of your church and Reading Room staff been praying in support of the healing activity of your Reading Room? Please send your submissions to: opendoors@csp.com.

Christian Science Monitor Hones In On Values In New Focus (10/20/2022)

Talk to anyone in journalism. "News avoidance" is a thing. People simply can't cope with a daily dose of anger, failure, fear, and frustration. The Monitor was created to antidote this narrow view of news. Now, we're going to make that even plainer.

Some of you will remember our Respect Project or Finding Resilience. By focusing on the values behind the news, we gave you a deeper view of the news and showed how it can highlight solutions that unite rather than divide. We're going to do much more of this going forward. We're going to clearly identify the values driving the news – whether it's respect, compassion, responsibility, freedom, or so on.

Visit our new Values Page at to see what we mean. Watch your email inbox to learn more from Monitor staff. If you weren't able to join us for the live presentation, please visit the Reading Room Resources page to watch the replay of our webinar with Monitor Managing Editor, Amelia Newcomb, and product owner, Kim Proctor as they discuss this values focus in more detail.
